ANNUAL REPORT 2010

EUROPEAN VALUES THINK-TANK
Dear Reader,

you are holding the Annual Report of the European Values Think-tank, in which we would like to present our programs realized in 2010.

European Values is a non-governmental, pro-European organization that, through education and research activities, works for the development of civil society and a healthy market environment.

From 2005, we continue in our role as a unique educational and research organization and think tank, which contributes to public and professional discussion about social, political and economic development in Europe.

In the Czech Republic we point out that, due to our membership – active and constructive – of the European Union we can for the first time in modern history participate in decision-making processes concerning the future of Europe, and ensure that we are no longer just a passive object of desire of large powers in our neighbourhood.

With our international program, European Values Network, from 2007, we also contribute to a Europe-wide debate on the challenges that Europe faces today. We believe that the public and politicians do not recognize that the benefits of post-war development on our continent cannot be taken for granted, and that there are many global trends that threaten the freedom, security and prosperity of Europe as a whole. We analyse these social, political, security and economic trends, and we offer solutions to problems associated with them.

In addition to publishing our own books, publications, studies, recommendations, comments, and media contributions and commentary, we also organize seminars, conferences and training courses for professionals and the wider public. In our activities we arrange dialogue between politicians and journalists, businessmen and academics.

The well-known personalities among guests at our activities in previous years included, among others:

Petr Nečas, Prime Minister of the Czech Republic
Karel Schwarzenberg, Foreign Minister of the Czech Republic
Alexandr Vondra - Deputy Prime Minister for European Affairs
André Glucksmann – French philosopher
Elmar Brok – MEP, former Chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee
Eneko Landaburu - Director-General of the DG External Relations of the European Commission
Franz Fischler - former European Commissioner
Gunnar Hökmark – MEP, Committee on Economic and Monetary Affairs
Jan Kohout - former Czech Ambassador to the EU
Jan Zahradil - Member of the European Parliament
Jana Hybášková - Member of the European Parliament
Jiří Dienstbier - former Czechoslovak Minister of Foreign Affairs
Jiří Šedivý - former Chief of the General Staff of Army, Czech Republic
Josef Zieleniec - Member of the European Parliament
Karel Kovanda - Deputy Director General for External Relations of the European Commission
Klaus Hänsch – MEP, former President of the European Parliament
Libor Rouček – Member of the European Parliament
Lukáš Macek - Director of the European Programme in Dijon, Scineces-Po Paris
Sylvie Goulard - President of the European Movement in France

ABOUT US

WHAT IS EUROPEAN VALUES THINK-TANK?

European Values Think-tank is a non-governmental, pro-European organization that, through education and research activities, works for the development of civil society and a healthy market environment.

Since 2005, through research and education, we have been striving for an informed and sophisticated public debate in support of the success of the Czech Republic in the world. We are not afraid to tackle the difficult questions facing our society. We support solutions that make both the Czech Republic and Europe freer, stronger and safer. We are a non-governmental non-profit institution, which is not linked to any political party.

We produce our own publications including monographs, research papers, policy papers, recommendations, and comments for media. We organize conferences, seminars and trainings for experts and wider public. At our events we provide a platform for dialog amongst politicians, professionals, journalists, businesspeople and students.

OUR MISSION

The two-fold mission of European Values Think-tank is to provide European-dimension debate in the Czech Republic and to promote civil society participation in EU and national level public affairs. The main national programmes are: public debates (“European Club”), annual international conferences, and workshop educational programs for adult and youth learners. The international programme “European Values Network” is organized on the European level.
Since 2005 the European Values Think-tank has organized over 28 one- or several-day events attended by total of approx. 1000 participants mainly from among civil society workers from around 20 EU member states. The EV has successfully organized projects independently or in cooperation with partner organizations supported by grants from the Czech Government, European Commission, European Parliament, EU member states embassies, regional administrations, as well as public and private foundations and companies.

OUR GOALS

The particular focus of the European Values Think-tank is in fostering civil society interest and participation in democratic political process at national and EU level by

- providing educational and public debate programmes primarily for civil society workers
- actively contributing to the public debate on EU affairs with publications and event-based activities.

The educational and public debate programmes include summer schools, workshops, conferences, seminars, round-tables and debates on various EU-policy issues (e.g. EU policy agenda, economic policy, immigration policy, external affairs policy, institutional questions, etc.). Public debate contributions by the EV include series of printed and electronic commentaries, research papers, policy papers, edited monographs etc. focused both on EU-policy issues and their relation to public and civil society participation.

WHAT THEY SAID ABOUT US

- "I have had the pleasure of cooperating with European Values' team and I have been impressed by their enthusiasm and the quality of their work. Their contribution to the European debate is most valuable, particularly at a time when the EU has to find a way out of the global crisis and address the unprecedented challenges of this century."

Alain LAMASSOURE

Member of the European Parliament and former Minister for European Affairs of the French government

- "Activities of the European Values association and its European Values Network contribute significantly to promotion and preservation of the values that our European community is, and should continue to be, built on."

Elmar BROK
Member and former Chairman of the Foreign Affairs of the European Parliament

❖ “It is has been a delight to cooperate with European Values over the past year. They are one of the few think-tanks in Europe with a truly European perspective on major policy and political issues.”

Simon HIX
Professor of European and Comparative Politics, London School of Economics and Political Science

❖ „European Values association has grown in four years of its existence from purely citizens’ initiative in a respected think-thank, which plays an indispensable role in the Czech debate about European integration. It provides space for debate and comes up with new agenda that is essential for the future of our position in the European Union, but also for the form of the European integration itself. At the European level, the European Values association through its European Values Network contributes significantly to the forming of European civic society and all-European awareness of societal challenges. Their work thus deservedly merits respect and support.”

Josef ZIELENIEC
Member of the European Parliament and former Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Czech government

❖ „The French Embassy appreciates and supports activities of the European Values association for their contribution to enrichment of the public debate about Europe not only in the Czech Republic, but also among young people on our continent.”

H. E. CHARLES FRIES
Ambassador of the French Republic to the Czech Republic

❖ "I very much appreciate the work done by European Values association. Members of your association really strengthen Europe as a respected partner in world politics."

H.E. Helmut ELFENKÄMPER
Ambassador of the Federal Republic of Germany to the Czech Republic
"I have very much appreciated my participation in the conference activities of European Values. At a time when some discordant voices throw an uncertain light on the Czech Republic’s commitment to the values of a more integrated and more democratic European Union, organisations such as European Values are of all the greater importance for citizens both in the Czech Republic and throughout the EU."

John PALMER
Co-founder and longstanding Political Director of the European Policy Centre in Brussels

"Together European Values association and the Konrad-Adenauer-Foundation have organized several seminars and conferences in 2008 highlighted by the seminar on political marketing for the European Parliament elections in September as well as a conference regarding elections and democracy in the EU in November. These are just some steps which contribute to the overall framing of Europe and its values in the Czech Republic. In the year of the Presidency the partnership between the European Values association and the Konrad-Adenauer-Foundation is an even more important one. For now I want to congratulate the European Values association for the successful mutual cooperation based on trust and friendship."

Hubert GEHRING
Director of the Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung, Prague Office

"Any debate is good. When it is among nations from different corners of the world, it is better. The European Values Network does this."

Tomáš SEDLÁČEK
Chief macroeconomic strategist of the ČSOB bank
BRIEF HISTORY OF OUR EDUCATIONAL ACTIVITIES

The European Values has practical experience in working with learners from civil society organizations (including their leaders, workers and volunteers) from two kinds of projects:

✓ Residential workshops on political communication that were designed for civil society workers and leaders with a specific need to improve their competences in the area of political communication and marketing with the aim of enhancing public participation in democratic political process at national and EU level. Two four-day such workshops were organized in 2008 and 2009.

✓ Various non-residential events including public and non-public conferences, seminars, round-tables and debates organized for civil society representatives, political parties professionals and interest groups representatives (on various topics of EU policy agenda).

Over 700 individual participants attended such events organized by the European Values Think-tank since 2005.

The European Values Think-tank has also organized over ten residential Workshops since 2006, both for adult and youth participants, including:

✓ EXPERT WORKSHOPS (four-day) for civil society workers on political communication composed of trainings and simulations led by high level practitioners (2008, Telc: Political Marketing for the elections to the European Parliament; 2009, Trebon: Political Communication and the EU)

✓ EUROPEAN VALUES NETWORK – educational and policy-research programme for young scholars and professionals including three-day workshop meeting in Brussels and four-day workshop and conference meeting in Prague (four programmes organised in 2007, 2008, 2009 and 2010)

IN TOTAL OVER 200 ADULT AND OVER 50 YOUTH LEARNERS from more than 20 different EU member states completed residential educational programmes organized by the European Values Think-tank.

The European Values Think-tank has successfully organized four annual programmes of the European Values Network – a unique educational and policy-research programme for young scholars and professionals. The programme involved every year around fifty participants from approx. sixteen EU member states who took part in working groups, which met during three-day workshop meetings in Brussels and four-day workshop and conference meetings in Prague. So far four EVN programmes were organised in 2007, 2008, 2009 and 2010. More information at www.europeanvalues.net

In addition the European Values Think-tank maintains transnational and European-wide cooperation being active member of the European Movement and other European networks. The European Values Think-tank regularly organizes international expert conferences with speakers from various EU member state.

EUROPEAN VALUES THINK-TANK IN 2010

EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND CURRENT CHALLENGES OF THE EU

International project supported by the European Parliament¹ (2009 – 2010)

The aim of the project was to contribute to raising level of Czech public awareness about the importance, activities and outcomes of the European Parliament (EP) in the context of European Union policies and to support wide public debate about EP issues.

Particularly, the project was following three objectives: (1) to contribute to the citizens’ understanding that the European Parliament is THEIR Parliament, where issues directly or indirectly affecting their everyday life are discussed and decided upon; (2) to apply three innovative approaches including focus on the issues of the EP that effect citizens’ lives and are of citizens’ vivid interest, focus on mediators, personalities (journalists, academics, politicians, NGO activists) who from the nature of their public activity reach out significant number of citizens, focus on new multimedia for wider dissemination of the project’s outcomes; (3) to offer the citizens a unique opportunity to meet with opinion and decision makers, discuss matters of their concern, and express their views.

Primary target group was general public which was reached directly at the events, with outcomes of the actions, but mainly through the “mediators” (publicly active people), who represented the second target group. The skeleton of the project consisted of single set of five actions, from each of which resulted several outcomes. Each event focused on the role and position of the European Parliament with regard to the discussed issues.

✓ The first action was an Expert Workshop: Political Communication and the EU realised on 27 – 30 August 2009 in Třeboň for young publicly active people. Modern methods of communication and media skills were given by Anna Matušková – expert in political marketing, Masaryk University, Otto Eibl, expert in political communication, Masaryk University, Martina Čavnická, psychologist, Jan Odzgán, media coach, Jan Kremlček, experience designer & creative coach, and Hana Kůrová, consultant in PR and marketing. As guest speakers on the challenges of communication of European issues featured Jan Punčochář, deputy chief-editor, TV Prima, Lukáš Macek, director of the European programme Sciences Po Paris in Dijon, Daniel Kaiser, journalist, Lidové noviny, Petra Kuchyňková, lecturer at the International Affairs and European Studies Department, Masaryk University and CDK analyst, and Václav Lebeda, programme director, European Values. The main outcome was publication entitled Effective Political Communication.

✓ The second event was a public debate European Club: Reducing Bureaucratic Burden for Businesses in Europe (24 September 2009, CERGE – El, Praha). The guest speakers involved Manuel Santiago dos Santos, main advisor to the director for industrial policy and economic reforms at the European Commission, Tomáš Rutrlle, general manager, Fujitsu Technology Solutions, Štěpán Hošna, director of the business environment at the Czech Ministry for industry and trade. The moderator was Jan Žižka, deputy editor-in-chief of the Mladá fronta E15 daily. The outcomes included one publication and an article in the Mladá fronta E15 daily.
The third action was an international conference on the Perspectives of the Transatlantic Partnership entitled “The West in the 21st Century: Doomed to Marginalisation?” which took place on 5 – 6 November 2009, Lichtenstein Palace, Prague. The conference was dealing with trade as well as defence cooperation between the EU and the US following the debates in the European Parliament. Among the panel speakers were: Štefan Füle: Minister for European Affairs of the Czech Republic, Alexandr Vondra: Senator, Former Czech Vice-Prime Minister for European Affairs, Jeffrey Gedmin: President, Radio Free Europe/Radio Liberty, Jane Gilson: General Manager, Microsoft Czech Republic, Philippe Nemo: Professor at the ESCP-EAP European School of Management, Paris, Erik Best: Publisher, Fleet Sheet/E.S. Best s.r.o., Weston Stacey: Executive Director, American Chamber of Commerce, Czech Republic, Jiří Schneider: Programme Director, Prague Security Studies Institute, Jiří Šedivý: NATO Assistant Secretary-General for Defence Policy and Planning.

The fourth event was European Club: Where will the European money flow after 2013 on 30 November 2009 (in CERGE-EI, Praha). Among the guest speakers were Jiří Havel, MEP, Committee on Budget, Jan Gregor, director of the National Fund of the Czech Ministry of Finance, and Arnošt Marks, consultant and expert on EU Funds. The moderator was vice-chair of the European Values Alena Falathová. The outcomes included a publication and an article in Mladá fronta E15 daily.

The final action was European Club: Priorities of the New European Commission (14 December 2009, ABF Foundation, Praha). Just few weeks before the EP hearings of the Commissioner-designates distinguished speakers joint the debate: Marek Mora, deputy minister for European Affairs, Josef Zíleniec, former MEP a Foreign affairs minister, Jan Macháček, journalist and commentator Respekt weekly. The moderator was chairman of the European Values, Radko Hokovsky. Lukáš Macek, was author of a detail policy paper entitled “New European Commission: What Priorities for the “post-Lisbon” EU?”.

In total up to 300 people directly participated at the events and other hundreds and thousands have been reached by the outcomes freely accessible on the website www.evropskehodnoty.cz.
EUROPEAN VALUES NETWORK 2010 - MEETING IN BRUSSELS
(28 February - 2 March 2010)

PROGRAMME ANNUAL REPORT:

European Values Network is a platform of young European scholars and professionals who are inspired by the values of liberty, personal responsibility and an active civil society, and who aspire to contribute to the public debate by proposing solutions to enhance Europe’s freedom, security and prosperity. Since 2007 many new participants have joined our annual programme. Participants have become members of our working groups which meet in Brussels and Prague every year, producing policy papers that address the major challenges facing Europe.

European Values Network 2010: Towards a Safer Europe was held under the patronage of the President of the European Parliament, Mr. Jerzy Buzek

The European Values Think-tank has successfully organized four annual programmes of the European Values Network – a unique educational and policy-research programme for young scholars and professionals. The programme involved every year around fifty participants from approx. sixteen EU member states who took part in working groups, which met during three-day workshop meetings in Brussels and four-day workshop and conference meetings in Prague. So far four EVN programmes were organised in 2007, 2008, 2009 and 2010. More information at www.europeanvalues.net

The European Values Network (EVN) is a platform of young European scholars and professionals who are inspired by the values of liberty, personal responsibility, and an active civil society, and who want to propose solutions to enhance Europe’s freedom, safety, strength, and prosperity.

EVN was found in 2006 by European Values o.s. in cooperation with partners from Germany, Poland and Hungary. Today EVN is the biggest and most important programme of EV, which is managed together with the EVN International Organizing Committee. Every year new participants join our annual programme and, within working groups, meet in Brussels and Prague, and have the opportunity to discuss their proposals with leading European politicians and experts. The output of EVN – the publication of policy papers - is then distributed widely between institutions and organizations in Europe.

The European Values Network 2010 was held under the Patronage of the President of the European Parliament, Mr. Jerzy Buzek. It is organized in cooperation with the Konrad Adenauer Stiftung, Representation of the State of Baden-Württemberg to the EU, and the CEZ Group.
